ABRIDGMENT

Appended is a tabulation of these 14 Mental States (in successive columns across the large sheet) which an Operator may produce in order to influence a Subject to reveal concealed material.

1 Under-Anxiety
2 Over-Anxiety
3 Emotional Instability
4 Elation
5 Other Stimulation
6 Suggestibility
7 Especially Revealing
8 Confusion
9 Sensitizing to #12
10 Unconsciousness
11 Absence
12 Epileptic Convulsion
13 Various Combinations
14 (unspecified)

Sixty-odd itemized Means, used to produce such States, are listed thereafter in the left-hand column, where they are grouped as

(Chemical) Biochemical & Dietary, Natural Poisons, Drugs & Chemicals, Gases,
(Physical) Sounds, Lights, Electricity, Other Physical,
Physiological,
Psychological,
Surgical.

Intersections of vertical & horizontal divisions match Means used with State produced.

Following this card are carded descriptions of use in general of five groups of Means: Chemical, Physical, Physiological, Psychological, & Surgical.

Thereafter are cards per item, describing each Means specifically.

CHEMICAL MEANS

A chemical means can be selected that will produce some degree of almost any Mental State listed; except # 7 ("Especially Revealing" (i.e., truth-telling (and little else) & #11 ("Absence", i.e., a (petit mal type of (epileptic seizure

---

A chemical is the most practical means to produce a primarily emotional disturbance, viz. # 3 (emotional outbursts (and consequent loss (of self-control & # 4 (elation and conse- (quent incautiousness

---

Physical means produce smaller emotional effects, viz. (annoying (fatiguing means produce only mild # 3 (outbursts # 4 (elation

---

Hypnosis' emotional effects can be made equal to, or stronger than, those produced by chemical means; however, hypnosis is more unsure, elaborate, and time-consuming.

A/B 2 75-3

PHYSICAL MEANS

A physical means can be selected that will produce some degree of almost any Mental State listed;) exc. ("Especially Revealing," i.e., #7. (truth-telling and little else

A physical means is: the surest and quickest way to produce #12 (epileptic convulsion) & possibly the only way to produce #11 (petit mal type of seizure)

Physical means produce smaller emotional effects than do chemical (see CHEMICAL MEANS - 1)

PHYSIOLOGICAL MEANS

Here are listed, rather arbitrarily, several that are actually secondary to other means.

Disturbances of Middle or Internal Ear functions, which may be caused by various means: (may produce a Mental State #13; combining # 3, emotionality, with #8, confusion

Carotid Sinus Pressure: may produce fainting (#10, unconsciousness)

Fatigue in general: (however caused, (may produce (degrees of (# 4 (euphoria, a mild elation) (or (# 8 (confusion)

A/BE 75-5

PSYCHOLOGICAL MEANS

Isolation of various types may produce Mental States: (# 8, confusion (# 6, suggestibility (& a (#14, especially apathy (& purposelessness

More elaborate Brain-Washing techniques add to the above, #13 (various combinations (of emotional disturb- (ances ## 2, 3, & 4

Hypnotism is used mainly to produce (Mental State # 6, suggestibility (secondarily to this, memory losses (emotional changes or exaggerations, as ## 1,2,3,4

Extra-Sensory Perception, strictly speaking, is not a means to be applied to any Subj. Rather it is a mental faculty allegedly possessed by certain persons in varying degrees.

SURGICAL ... NS

(1

Frontal Lobotomies & Topectomies) all are drastic procedures, probably impractical but included for completeness' sake

Stimulation of the Amygdaloid Nucleus)

Operations on other Areas of Brain or Brain-Stem)

TALKATIVENESS

What makes a man talk?

1) Euphoria--induced by -- chemicals

2) Fear -- induced by -- chemicals -- threat

3) No inhibitions -- induced by -- chemicals

4) Loss of control -- induced by -- chemicals (LSD
Insanity
Electoshock

5) Isolation

A/BL 75-8

ABSINTHE

Alone, or combined with alcoholic drinks (although it is not tasteless), this drug definitely has possibilities for this project.

The literature on what might be expected of it, possibly in combination with drugs other than alcohol, has not been searched by this reporter. It ought to be.

Note - Altho there is a clear indication in the literature that continued use of absinthe may induce mental hallucinations, we can find no record of its use by any intelligence or police service for any reason.
